CITY TRUSTEES

Electric Railway Franchise Applied For—Census to be Taken—Protest Against Erection of Telephone Poles

All members present. Bids for supplies for the electric lighting department were opened and referred.

A delegation from the newly annexed territory on the west, representing especially the Valley View tract, appeared before the board. Mr. C. A. Russell of this delegation spoke in the way of protest against the erection of telephone poles on Columbus avenue, the said poles having been distributed apparently for the purpose of erecting the same. Mr. Booth, as a telephone man of practical experience, voiced his protest against putting these poles on Columbus and other narrow streets. In his opinion there is no necessity for putting poles on the street as the telephone company has a five-foot right of way in rear of lots. Manager Campbell of the Home Telephone Co. presented the company's side of the case, stating that the company has purchased cable and proposed to put no open wire on the poles, and it will not interfere with growing trees there. The street superintendent stated that permit was granted under the impression that there was no right of way available for erection of these poles. Mr. Coker moved that the matter be referred to the public works committee to make recommendation. On suggestion of Mr. Watson it was referred to this committee with power to act. Decided to meet at Fourth and Central Tuesday morning at 10 a. m. with interested parties.

Mr. Emery appeared and was heard in regard to the improvement of First St. Mr. Payne of the Glendale Sanitarium asked permission to put up a sign at Fourth and Brand. Referred to public works committee. A communication was read signed by C. E. Stanley asking permission to remove pepper trees; granted, after some discussion. Mr. Williams opposing the cutting down of any live tree that is not positively diseased. Demands were taken up and referred. A protest from George Eley and other residents of Lomita Park, against the erection of a business block on the southwest corner of Lomita avenue and Brand, was read and filed. An opinion by the city attorney was read in regard to a claim of the Carr Co. for the sum of $20.00 in the nature of a refund in the matter of the opening of Sixth street, adversely to the claimant, and action taken accordingly. An application was read from E. D. Goode asking that a franchise be advertised for sale for an electric railway from Lomita and Everett streets north of Everett and along Fourth street to west city limits, purpose being to run to Griffith Park. Referred to board of public works. Various monthly reports of city officials were received and filed. The fire chief reported a hydrant put in at First and Maryland. The light department was authorized to post notices of reward for arrest and conviction of parties breaking glasses on street lamps. The city lighting department was authorized to issue a statement to property owners in regard to present condition of the lighting system, financial and otherwise. A resolution was adopted expressing the intention of the board of trustees when the contemplated bond issue of $40,000 is sold, the rate to be 9 cents per $1,000 instead of 10 cents. The ornamental lighting matter was postponed one week.

An ordinance calling an election for the issue of $40,000 for improvement and extension of the electric light system, was read first time.

Mr. Lane made a motion to the effect that it be the intention of the trustees to have a census of the people of Glendale taken as soon as possible, looking toward the securing for the city of a freeholders charter, such as may be granted to a municipality of 5000 people. Adopted.

A motion was adopted directing the city clerk to divide the $1800 received from the county on account of West Glendale, between the street fund and the general fund in proportion heretofore fixed.

Baby Contest

The Los Angeles Tribune is conducting a baby contest for Borden's Condensed Milk Co. Arrangements have been made with the Weston Studio whereby you may have the baby's photograph taken free of charge to enter in this contest.

Babies need not have been raised on Borden's milk, but must be under three years of age. Four hundred and fourteen prizes are offered. For full particulars see the Tribune, or call at Weston Studio, just north of Tropicana avenue on Brand boulevard. An appointment is necessary for a sitting. Sunset 11-1; residence 26-J.

BOUGHT CONFECTIONERY STORE.

R. R. Scantland of this city has purchased the business, fixtures and good will of the Walker confectionery store, corner Fourth street and Brand boulevard. Mr. Scantland, who is an experienced confectioner, will conduct the business hereafter.

The plans for the new church are completed and work on the superstructure will soon begin.

The superintendent of the Sunday school, Mr. C. C. Arrowsmith, will soon announce something unique for the interest of the school and church. The school receives new members every Sunday.

Last Sunday evening the new officers of the B. Y. P. U. were installed. The pastor charged each of the following with their duties: E. M. Hicks, president; Mrs. O. W. Tarr, vice president; Miss Genevieve Huber, secretary; Miss Myrtle Wood, treasurer; Miss Ruby Wright, pianist. All young people are cordially invited to the meetings of the society in the church, Sunday evenings at 6:30.

The annual meeting of the Southern California Baptist Convention will be held in Redlands January 16th to 19th. Mr. Madison B. Jones is president this year. A fine program has been prepared and a large attendance is expected. Several from this church will be present among whom will be Pastor and Mrs. Haines.

There was a good congregation present last Sunday evening to hear the pastor's initial sermon in the course of Suggestive Questions. His second in the series will be delivered next Sunday evening when his subject will be, "Why Doesn't Everybody Believe?" In the morning he will preach on the subject, "The Power of the Invisible."

The congregational singing is always enjoyable. The music furnished by the quartet is fine. Everybody is invited.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

On Tuesday afternoon last the members of the club had the pleasure of listening to a fine address by Mr. John H. Francis, superintendent of Los Angeles schools, on education, dealing with the reorganization of the course of study in the higher grades of the grammar school and the high school. The music for the afternoon was furnished by the Glendale high school orchestra which rendered "Sweet Rev. Tchaikowski, and 'Lark's Morning Song,' Koelling, in a manner which showed the proficient training of their director, Mrs. Gibson.

Six new members were received in the club and two applications for membership.

Among exhibitors from Glendale who got away with prizes at the Poultry Show in Los Angeles last week was Mrs. W. D. Root of Verdugo road, who secured three prizes on her White Holland turkeys.

LIBRARY NOTES.

The library board of the Glendale Free Library convened in the library reading room on Thursday, January 4th, for the regular monthly business meeting. During the session of the library board it was decided to place John McGroarty's History and Romance of California on the library shelves. Also it was decided to obtain "The Book of Knowledge," an encyclopedia in 24 volumes especially adapted to the use of students in the grammar grades. Many will be glad to hear that the "Girl of the Golden West" in story form is now available and was added to the list of new books recently obtained. Interesting new juvenile books are Bobby Orde by Steward Edward White, the Uncle Remus Stories, the Second Violin, Miss Billie, and the Boy's Life of Edison. New and interesting adult books are: A Likely Story, Measure of a Man, Richard Meynell, Kennedy Square, in the Catskill, Barbara of the Snows, California Landscape Gardening, the House of Rime, and the Faithful Failure.

A new and up-to-date city directory can be consulted any time during library hours.

The list of magazine subscriptions has been revised and ordered for the New Year. A number of new additions were made.

Mrs. John C. Danford, librarian, visited the Santa Monica library on Wednesday, and the Whittier library on Friday. Several new improvements for the interior of the library are soon to be made.

The book committee have decided to have an expert binder examine the old, worn-out books of the library and bind them and put them in condition to go back into circulation once more.

New subscribers to the Glendale library are always welcome. The only qualification necessary to obtain a card is to have the card signed by a Glendale taxpayer, if the person desiring the card is not a taxpayer himself. Residents outside of the city limits may also obtain cards by fulfilling the requirement just stated.

REAL ESTATE NOTES.

Acreage continues to be in demand in Glendale. During the past week the following sales have been made: D. McLevin, Kenneth road, seven acres, mostly in citrus fruit trees, to J. C. Kipper of Los Angeles; price $19,000. The new owner will move in soon. Mr. McKevin and family leave the valley for the present.

The Connor's place on the southwest corner of Sixth and Adams street, consisting of four lots, has been sold to a Mr. Howey; while his son has bought the Reedy property of six acres on Adams street above Ninth.

Alex Mitchell and Mr. Richards are subdividing their 20 acres on the north side of Kenneth road, preparatory to putting it on the market in one-acre lots.

RECEPTION TO REV. EDMONDS.

Last Monday evening a reception was tendered to their new minister by the Presbyterians at the church on Fourth street, which was largely attended and proved to be a very happy affair. Nearly all the other ministers of Glendale and Tropic were present and joined heartily in the welcome to their brother worker in the Christian field. Mr. Edmonds responded felicitously to the many speeches of welcome. Refreshments were served, and it was not until a late hour that the meeting broke up and the people went to their homes.

MAIDS AND MATRONS.

The Maids and Matrons will convene on Monday in the Glendale Country Club parlors, at 2:30 p. m. The annual election of officers will then take place. The candidates to be appointed by the nominating board are: Mrs. T. W. T. Richards, as president; Mrs. George Woodbury, vice-president; Mrs. E. P. Tholen, secretary; Mrs. W. C. Evans, treasurer; with Mrs. J. C. Brand, Mrs. W. H. McElroy, Mrs. C. W. Farrow and Mrs. Frank Heston as board of directors. It is especially desired that a large attendance of members will be present.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club will meet with Mrs. Carl Mertens, 1455 Hawthorne street, Tuesday afternoon, January 16th. The lesson will be from Dostand's Chanticleer.

The board of trustees of the Glendale grammar schools met in session with the high school board of trustees at the high school on Wednesday evening at which time matters of vital importance were discussed.

Dr. D. W. Hunt is convalescing from an attack of the gripple.

ANNEXATION

Opposition Developed—Various Meetings, Etc.

There are indications visible to a close observer that there are some objections on the part of a portion of the residents of the Casa Verdugo section to being annexed to Glendale. These indications have been so numerous during the past ten days that they are hard to keep track of. It will be remembered that the petition from that section for the calling of the annexation election was signed by something like 200 voters who reside in the territory to be annexed. This petition has hung fire for several weeks, being tied with the city trustees two weeks before they took final action calling the election as they did a week ago last Monday night. The trustees called the election because the law required them to do so and to have delayed action another week could have had no effect on the result—it had to be called and the original lines could not be changed. The date of election was fixed for February 12th, without the fact being brought to the attention of the trustees that Abraham Lincoln chose that date upon which he was born and that it is therefore a holiday. Immediately an astute legal mind projected itself upon the atmosphere and in a communication to the Los Angeles Tribune, ridiculed City Attorney Evans for his oversight and rejoicing thereat. In a subsequent issue of the same paper Mr. Evans replied to the astute legal luminary showing quite conclusively by citing court decisions in this state on the same subject that the holding of an election on a holiday is not barred by statute. Meanwhile a special meeting of the Casa Verdugo Improvement Association was held at the Pepper Inn and is said to have been a very enjoyable affair. This was followed by another special meeting of the association held last Sunday evening at the M. E. church, Casa Verdugo. At this meeting, Mr. T. E. Stanton, president of the association, declared his resignation on account of certain promise given by him, and Mr. D. Oliver was elected in his place. It is said to say that Mr. Oliver is one of the "irreconcilables" under his leadership things will continue to happen whenever the association meets.

A vote was taken on the question of annexation and the meeting unanimously expressed itself as against the proposition. This does not mean, however, that the association, for at least two of the citizens present expressed themselves as favoring it. Col. Thornton in answering a question as to the objections to annexation, stated away other things that the object of it was to give Glendale more territory to tax; how this idea influenced the 200 citizens in the outside territory who petitioned to come in, was left unexplained. Mr. J. A. Pirtle, who is interested in the Verdugo ranch which it is proposed to annex so as to protect Glendale's water supply, appealed to the ladies to help defeat the scheme. Mr. Sidney Dell also spoke; he did not approve of the lines. A large number of ladies were appointed to work on committees to assist in defeating the project. Quite a considerable campaign fund was raised; the principal contributors being those representing the large interests involved. In a statement published in another paper, Mr. Stanton gives as his reason for resigning from the presidency of the association, that he does not approve of that body taking sides in the matter. He would have favored incorporation had the Thom and Ross ranches been included. In the meantime a Casa Verdugo Progressive League has been formed, officiated by Messrs. Sternberg, Ady and Lockwood, with a good list of members to work for annexation.

JANUARY 24-25, 1912.

There will be held a bazaar in which the business men of Glendale will show to the ever increasing population of Glendale just how foolish and unnecessary it is to go to Los Angeles or anywhere else outside of our own city to buy all the things necessary for the needs, comforts or luxuries of the people.

The K. of P. hall on Brand boulevard has been secured for the above-named bazaar, furnishing space for a large number to display and advertise their goods and wares. This is a most attractive method of reaching the people, and will be an excellent opportunity to advertise by means of calendars, etc. There will be no admission charged and there will be musical talent to help entertain.

Seating space in the center of the hall will be provided so there is no reason why all should not attend on one or both evenings without any discomfort.

Let us show a due appreciation of our city's business men and boost for a good time and for the success of Glendale and all her institutions and business.

By order of the Executive Board of the Glendale Valley Improvement Association.

BANK ELECTIONS.

The stockholders of the First National Bank of Glendale at their annual meeting Tuesday evening elected the old board of directors except that Mr. E. U. Emery was elected director in place of Mr. Lennox, who has moved away.

The Bank of Tropic held its annual election Tuesday, re-electing the old officers.

RAILWAY PROJECTS

Mr. E. D. Goode Keeps at It

Mr. E. D. Goode informs us that work on the new line that he is promoting from Van Nuys to San Fernando will begin in about thirty days. This line starts from the terminus of the Pacific Electric at Van Nuys and runs in a northeasterly direction for eight miles to San Fernando, crossing the S. P. track at Pacoima whence it continues to its destination. Van Nuys will certainly be well supplied with transportation facilities, as Mr. L. C. Brand's road connecting that town with the Mission is well under way and the line over to Owensmouth is also being pushed.

As will be noticed in the account of the proceedings of the Glendale city trustees, Mr. Goode has applied for a franchise in Glendale for an electric railroad. The present starting point is at Lomita and Everett streets, running over Everett north to Fourth, along Fourth to Columbus or Pacific (Seventh) street; thence westward to Griffith Park. This is not a new project, but is of interest as showing that Mr. Goode is still at work on railroad plans will no doubt be consummated in the course of a not very long time, possibly with variation of routes and other details. From the corner of Everett street and Lomita it is expected to connect ultimately with the Los Angeles railways line to Eagle Rock, probably at the junction of the Verdugo road with the road leading past the dairy to Eagle Rock, a distance of two miles probably. By the election for annexation to Los Angeles of that territory which is to come off shortly, the limits of the city of Los Angeles will probably be extended to this point and that will mean a five-cent car fare and a ten cent single fare between Los Angeles and Glendale. While there is nothing definite to report as to the electrifying of the Salt Lake road up Glendale avenue, the matter is still in the list of probabilities for the near future. There are various interests involved in this scheme in Verdugo Canon, La Cresenta and La Canada and all expect a pull in the same direction, even if there are rumors being circulated just now for electrifying the same line to erect that all of this falls through it so, and so doesn't happen.

Regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. Friday, January 12, at the home of Mrs. Julia R. Beers, 809 Belmont street. Roll call, name the harm in tobacco. Subject, Anti-Narcotics.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

"Lincoln" was right when he said that no voting majority can make a wrong right. Much has been said about the recent election in Los Angeles to wipe out the liquor traffic that it was an inopportune time. (It does make me so tired.) Are saloons of more value to the home, the church, the city and the state, than boys and girls? Is there any time that is inopportune if there is any opportunity to hit the traffic? If so, I wish some one would say when it is. I would say any day on the calendar, Sunday as well, and if not, why pay preachers to fight sin on Sunday. This is the greatest sin and many preachers never touch the subject. Sam Jones once said years ago: "They won't be in hell fifteen minutes before they will wish they had registered themselves against the saloon traffic when they had the saloons of America owe their existence to some of the Christian voters; none exists because of my vote, and never shall. This thing of walking with the Savior on Sundays and locking arms and heart with the traffic on Tuesday, the day of election, who can face the One who gave His life to save us from sin and claim they are Christians. We should be ready all the time to fight sin, not ask for a little more time, fold our hands, and wait. In 365 days 31,243 persons in Los Angeles were sent to jail, nearly all through drink or for crimes committed on account of drink."

Wiley J. Phillips of Los Angeles, the editor of California Voice, says: "We have no children of our own to be ruined for time and eternity, but he has tried hard to save and rescue other boys and girls that belonged to Sunday schools and churches. In dens of vice and licensed death traps, he has rescued daughters of ministers, lovely girls, who were entrapped and victims of drink. If all our church workers would just visit such places and save one and never vote for evil what a country we might have! Listen to a plea for drunkards' wives; 'I would make a plea for the wives and mothers of drunkards. We are told that drink is a necessary evil. Why is it so? There is no such thing as a necessary evil! America is called the best nation on earth. In the name of Christianity, cannot something be done to wipe out this curse and blot on our nation? Surely there is enough right-thinking and moral voters in our land who do not want boys and girls to grow up and become besotted fools, who know that drink is the work of all evil—cannot they do something to save our homes and children and spare us the awful degradation and misery of this wretched existence, with no hope for the future but to watch our children follow in the footsteps of their fathers?'—A Drunkard's Wife.

Every white ribboner in California has a ballot (a club) to kill the liquor traffic. Let us do it for mother love will win at last with our state dry officers. MRS. GAYLORD, Pres.

PURCHASE 300 ACRES

Another Section of San Fernando Valley to be Developed

Tupper Robinson and Co. and other Glendale investors have recently acquired a tract of 300 acres in the San Fernando valley, located four miles from Van Nuys on the Mission road about two and a half miles from San Fernando which is about ready to put on the market. It will be divided principally into small acreage lots which will be sold at a very reasonable figure. It is adjacent to land upon which parties are planting orange orchards and water is said to be abundant at a depth of 100 feet. A 60-foot boulevard will be constructed through the tract. Since getting the property the original purchasers have sold a three-eighths interest to Mr. Wm. Wakefield of Hollywood.

Important Announcement

We, the members of the Glendale Union High School Board of Trustees and the members of the Glendale City Board of Trustees, at a joint meeting held on January 10th, 1912, do hereby agree that in the investigation of the charges made by Mr. Jones against Mrs. M. H. Anderson and Miss B. N. Hall, we find the evidence submitted was entirely insufficient to sustain the charges and they are hereby exonerated from any blame in the matter of said charges.

WALLACE TUPPER STARTS A CAMPAIGN.

Wallace Tupper dropped in at the NEWS office last week. This is the young man who has been so successful in trapping and hunting, something of whose exploits was told in our columns some months ago. Recently he has been slowly recovering from a case of ptomaine poisoning. Now he is himself again and the wild things will have to take to the tall timber, as Wallace starts in on a campaign next week. He will make a camp in Verdugo Canon at Fred Verdugo's place and trap in the near-by hills. He informs us that the scarcity of small mammals is due not to the hunters but to the ravages of wild cats, coyotes and foxes. The former are particularly bad at this work, as they climb the trees at night and get the birds in their roosting places. Speaking as one who has studied animal and bird life, his opinion is deserving of consideration when he says that if our lawmakers would put a bounty on wild cats and foxes, the small game would be much more numerous even if hunters had unlimited license.

Now here comes Woman, doubly armed with the leap year privilege and a vote. Pry thee, good angel of the unfortunate, show us the way to the tall timber.

The secretary of state of California, backed by the attorney general, says that all registrations made since January first in which the voter was not required to state his or her age, are void. The new law eliminating that requirement has not yet been signed by the governor and is not effective for 90 days anyhow!

In renewing his subscription to the News, Judge Erskine M. Ross very kindly says: "My congratulations on the very excellent paper you are publishing and best wishes for a happy New Year."

That commendation from a gentleman of Judge Ross' standing is appreciated, goes without saying, and goes far to offset the criticism we sometimes receive from other and far different sources.

The decision given by Judge Conrey in Los Angeles the other day is to the effect that the owner of land has a right to take water from a well on his land even though it be on the water shed of a stream below him. In the case alluded to the owners of an irrigation system sought to have a rancher enjoined, putting in the plea that all the underground water be turned to the stream.

A "new religion" is proclaimed quite eloquently set forth by an ex-Jewish rabbi and is said to have for one of its principal sponsors no less a personage than Dr. Elliot, late of Harvard university. Certainly the world should welcome anything that gives a reasonable promise of making better the people in it and if all that is good in the alleged "new" religion should prove to be merely a new application of the principles laid down by the great Founder of Christianity, it should still be a force for the upbuilding of the world.

A peculiarity about our occasional cold spells in California is the freakishness with which Jack Frost bestows his favors. In portions of the valley hereabouts which are generally looked upon as being subject to the extremes of cold, the recent spell of low temperature left no more than the usual mark of winter, while on high ground which frequently carries tender foliage through the winter unharmed, the damage was considerable. There is much speculation as to the damage done to the orange crop, but the real extent of it cannot be determined with certainty until the fruit begins to dry up and drop off. No doubt there will still be a fair crop in Southern California, that has not been hurt.

Surely the life of a Democratic aspirant for the presidency in these days is not a happy one. Nearly every one of those prominently mentioned, has something unfortunate in his record that bids up to embarrass him at critical times. A few months ago Woodrow Wilson seemed away in the lead, then the elections in his own state went against him; the facts in regard to his efforts to secure himself a pension were made known, and now comes the publication of the letter in which he expressed the kindly hope that "Bryan might be knocked into a cocked hat." So it looks as though it was farewell to Woodrow, Bryan himself with an ego developed inordinantly by his three time nomination, finds himself at odds with the national committee and one or two of the numerous wings of the party. Champ Clark is not taken too seriously and Governor Harmon seems to be losing ground. There is a strong possibility that the two national conventions will leave in their wake enough soreheads of both parties to form a third, but who will lead the third?

WILL THE GOVERNOR ABOLISH HANGING?

A news dispatch in the daily press bears the caption "Governor Johnson to abolish the death penalty," and the article proceeds to tell us that the governor being opposed to capital punishment intends to see to it that there are no executions of criminals while he is in office. It is to be hoped that this dispatch does the governor an injustice. Having taken an oath to faithfully execute the laws of the state, it is inconceivable that the executive should deliberately proceed to violate that oath and render of no avail a particular law to which he happens to object. This law has been on the statute books ever since the state was formed and until it is repealed by the people, it is none of the governor's business whether it meets with his approval or not, his duty is to see that it is made effective.

The idea that capital punishment does not prevent the crime of murder, may or may not be true, but it does not seem to get encouragement by making a contrast between conditions in England as compared with the United States. In the city of Chicago alone more murders are committed in one year than in the great city of London in four or five years. There are very few hangings in Chicago, but in London, nearly every convicted murderer dies. The laws there work swiftly and surely, they are made to protect the public; here they are too often a farce, they are made to protect the criminal.

"MERRY WAR."

Our neighbors whose lives are cast in that pleasant section known as "Casa Verdugo," seem to have tired of the ways of pleasantness and the primrose paths of peace, and to have taken up the implements of war once more. The casus belli, not to put it in English, revolves around the question, to be or not to be a part of the city of Glendale. One faction rallies around an improvement association and another gathers its cohorts together under the banners of a Progressive league. Good citizens hitherto esteemed, have all at once in the estimation of their neighbors, undergone a metamorphosis and become villains several times dyed. Ladies who once were bosom friends and interchanged gossip from adjacent backyards, speak no more to each other as they pass by, but lie in wait to trip each other up. One party wishes to have all the comforts and conveniences of metropolitan life, particularly electric lights so that their feet need not stumble when they wend their way homeward from the late car at midnight. Their opponents are fearful of the trammels of ordinances and the restrictions of municipal regulations. They object to having to bell their cats and tether their roosters; life now means to them one long sweet song unbroken by the discord of the curfew bell. When they return at nightfall from pursuit of the elusive dollar in the wicked city where reform is rampant and the mugwump reigns supreme, they desire to bury themselves in the folds of enveloping overalls and draw the darkness over them as a garment! Or else to enshroud themselves in sky blue kimono, drive the pullets to roost and milk the cow that gives the buttermilk! From such sylvan scenes and harmless pastimes who would them sever! While down in the city of Glendale five thousand and five hundred and fifty-five people seek coigns of vantage (places in tall trees) and with bated breath wait for the collision between the embattled hosts stuffing their ears with cotton mean while!

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The occasional additions now and then to the roll of pupils just serves to keep the number up to that last reported, 284. Late additions are Ruth Crandall of Farmington, Minn., and Dora and Theodore Koesthen from the Los Angeles high.

Mr. C. O. Pulliam has been elected president of the board of trustees in place of Mr. Pitman, deceased. No trustee has yet been appointed to fill the vacancy.

Miss Holloway is back again after an absence of several weeks on account of illness.

The Sophs are busy preparing their edition of the "Stylus" which must be in the editor's hands this week. Paris have been assigned in the Latin play which will be given sometime before the spring term opens. The following are those who will take part: Regina Bacon, Hazel Evans, Eunice Jones, Jean McNutt, L. Middleworth, Ruth Pierce, Marie Schwartz, Harold Story, Helen Tupper, Elvira Uiter, Myrtle Wood, Eliza Byrkit, Eliza Tipton, Earl Thompson.

GOOD-BYE TO THE OLD YEAR.

Didst see the sun sink to his rest
Adown the western sky?
He lingered on the mountain crest
To see the old year die.
A panoramic picture rare
Of beauty was unfolded;
It hung on the horizon there,
A shimmering sheet of gold.

The winds sung requiem lullaby
Amid the foothill trees;
"Twere well to live it but to die
Mid splendors such as these.
While shadows crept across the way,
While this was in the sky,
And whispering voices seemed to say,
"Good-bye, Old Year, good-bye."

And so we bid a kind adieu
To the outgoing year,
If heavy burdens come to you,
Dismiss him with a cheer.
As likewise much of happiness
He brought—none can deny—
For this our thanks we here express
"Good-bye, Old Year, good-bye."

You're moving now with feeble force
And hesitating gait;
A few feet hours will end your course;
We midnight chimes await.
Old Nineteen—eleven, pass from view;
Your young successor's nigh—
Ring out the old, ring in the new—

PLEADS GUILTY TO LARCENY OF HAND SATCHEL FROM CARS.

On the day before Christmas, Mr. H. E. Colby purchased a fine satchel costing $16 in Los Angeles and with Mrs. Colby boarded a Glendale car for their home in Glendale, carrying the new purchase. In alighting from the car the satchel was left behind. Missing it immediately afterward Mr. Colby stopped the car on its return expecting to recover his property; but it had disappeared. The conductor remembered, however, that a well-dressed woman had got off the car further up the line and he believed that she had the satchel with her. On Monday the same conductor noticed the woman whom he suspected, again riding on his car and notified Mr. Colby who immediately took up the trail and after following her a long time had her arrested and taken to the University police station in Los Angeles. She acknowledged having taken the satchel which she restored to the owner. When brought before Recorder Whomes she pleaded guilty and was sentenced to thirty days' imprisonment of a fine of $30. The fine was paid.

PARENT-TEACHER FEDERATION OF GLENDALE.

The Federation meeting of the Parent-Teacher association in Glendale will be held in the Glendale high school auditorium on the evening of January 20, at 8 o'clock. Much care and thought has been expended in planning the program for the evening which will be rendered by persons of exceptional ability. The first part of the program will be a concert given by the high school orchestra. Judge A. W. Hutton will be speaker of the occasion and his address will be devoted to an exposition of "Recent Developments in open-air schools in the United States." Miss Georgia Shropshire of Orange will give a vocal solo and Mrs. W. C. Fraley of Glendale will also contribute a vocal solo, both of whom are musicians of marked talent. All are cordially invited to attend the Federation meeting as guests of the members.

ATTORNEY FREDERICK BAKER BECOMES A CITIZEN OF GLENDALE.

Among the other good people who are coming our way are Frederick Baker, Esq., and his wife, who are located temporarily at 456 West Fifth street, and will soon build at First and Maryland. Mr. Baker is for about three years a Glendale's city attorney and to his guiding counsel was due much of the success of Glendale when but a budding municipality. Mr. Baker in their former home at Long Beach was an active member of the Elbel Club and prominent in social circles.

CHATNAM AGAIN.

Ervin Chatnam got out of the county jail a few days ago after serving his time on a 30 days' sentence given him by Recorder Whomes and immediately resumed his bibulous performances as of old. Marshal Miller soon had him in tow again. He brought him into Judge Whomes' court Wednesday morning and sat him up against the wall while he (the officer) went out to attend to other business. The judge became interested in other matters and when his thoughts turned toward the prisoner the latter had just faded away. When recovered he will probably be sent to Patton, a special insanity charge as an incurable.

ACCIDENT VICTIMS.

Miss Eva Oliver who was injured in the accident on the Pacific Electric car on Christmas night, is still confined to bed, but slowly improving. Mr. Middleworth whose knee was temporarily dislocated, finds it necessary to refrain from walking, while Mrs. Middleworth is reported as gradually improving.

I. O. O. F. INSTALLATION.

At the public installation of Glendale Lodge No. 338 on Monday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall on West Fourth street, there will be a splendid program outside of the installation and a fine supper such as this lodge can alone furnish. Everybody welcome.

AVIATION GROUNDS NEAR GLENDALE.

Announcement is made that a company has bought 200 acres of land on the edge of Griffith Park between the park and the river, to be used for aviation purposes. Even the flying ships are coming our way.

Be sure and keep February 2 an open date, for the U. S. C. Glee Club will be here that evening and all will wish to attend.

Mr. Charles E. Shattuck of Glendale is architect of the new five thousand dollar club house now being erected at Placentia.

A NEIGHBORHOOD CELEBRATION.

Ten former residents of Woodbury, Conn., celebrated Christmas day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mallett, 321 E. Second street. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mallett and Miss Carrie Mallett. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Winton, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Terrell and Mr. Austin C. Terrill. The following verses were written for the occasion by Mrs. N. W. Terrill.

THE CHRISTMAS CAROL OF TEN YANKEES.

We're all from old New England,
The home of snow and sleet,
But now we live in Summerland,
Eight of us on this street.

Two there are of this gay crowd,
Who country life disdain;
Of their city they are proud,
And join in this refrain:

"Los Angeles forever!
Just watch the people come."
Did you ever? No, no, never!
See such boosters. Not one dumb.

Over in the Angel City,
If there's anything to say,
About the growth of commerce,
Or of the Y. M. C. A.

We who live in East Glendale,
Are proud of homes and fruit;
And in boasting seldom fall,
Our own good horns to tout.

We tell about our mountains,
Our streets and lights and growth,
Our chicks and ducks and turkeys,
Our soil and climate both!

Just now our theme is turkey.
Our friends, our hostess dear,
Who with her genial husband,
Gives us this Christmas cheer.

Mrs. E. W. Richardson of Palo Alto recently of Tropico, sends word to Glendale friends of an interesting motor trip just completed in their automobile, enjoyed by herself and daughter, Miss Eula Richardson.

FRATERNAL BROTHERHOOD.

This organization kept up its record of interesting weekly meetings by an installation of officers last Friday evening. Gen. Adolph, commander of the Uniform Rank, was present and conducted the ceremony, assisted by J. J. Way, district manager, and J. D. Jones, district organizer. The following officers were installed: President, Alex Mitchell; secretary, Mrs. S. T. Wright; treasurer, C. H. Cushing; chaplain, Eliza Sinclair; sergeant-at-arms, H. W. CHAPTER X.

A MESSAGE FROM BOUCHER.

SHeldon became aware that she was speaking.

"I beg pardon," he said. "What's that you were saying?"

"You weren't listening to a word. I knew it," she chided. "I was saying that the condition of the Filiberty Gibbet was disgraceful, and that tomorrow, when you've told the skipper and not hurt his feelings I am going to take my men out and give her an overhauling. We'll scrub her bottom too. Why, there's whiskers on her copper four inches long. I saw it when she rolled. Don't forget. I'm going cruising on the Filiberty some day, even if I have to run away with her."

While at their coffee on the veranda Satan raised a commotion in the compound near the beach gate, and Sheldon finally rescued a mauled and frightened black and dragged him on the porch for interrogation.

The black drew a scrap of newspaper from under his belt and passed it over. Sheldon scanned it hurriedly.

"It's from Boucher," he explained. "The fellow who took Packard's place. Packard was the one I told you about who was killed by his boat's crew. He says that Port Adams crowd is out-fifty of them, in big canoes—and camping on his beach. They've killed half a dozen of his pigs already and seem to be looking for trouble. And he's afraid they may connect with the fifteen runaways from Lunga."

"In which case?" she queried.

"In which case Billy Pape will be compelled to send Boucher's successor. It's Pape's station, you know. I wish I knew what to do. I don't like to leave you here alone."

"Take me along, then."

He smiled and shook his head.

"Then you'd better take my men along," she advised. "They're good shots, and they're not afraid of anything—except Utami, and he's afraid of ghosts."

"I'm as good as a man," she urged.

"You really are needed here," he replied. "There's that Lunga crowd; they might reach the coast right here and, with both of us absent, rush the plantation. Goodbye. We'll get back in the morning some time. It's only twelve miles."

When Joan started to return to the house she was compelled to pass among the boat carriers, and one of them stepped up to her. In the darkness she could not make him out.

"What name?" she asked sharply.

"What name belong you?"

"Me Aroa," he said.

She remembered him as one of the two sick boys she had nursed in the hospital. The other one had died.

"Me take 'm plenty fella medicine too much," Aroa was saying.

"Well, and you all right now," she answered.

"Me want 'm tobacco, plenty fella tobacco; me want 'm calico, me want 'm porpoise teeth; me want 'm one fella belt."

"Gogoomy, you just the same as Aroa, one big fool. My word, who pay me for medicine?"

She dismissed the matter by passing through the gate and closing it. But Gogoomy pressed up against it and said impudently:

"Father belong me one big fella chief. My word, you fright too much."

"Me fright?" she demanded, while anger tingled all through her.

"Too much fright bang 'm head belong me," Gogoomy said proudly.

And then she reached for him across the gate and got him. It was a sweeping, broad handed slap, so heavy that he staggered sideways and nearly fell. He sprang for the gate as if to force it open, while the crowd surged forward against the fence. Joan thought rapidly.

Her revolver was hanging on the wall of her grass house. Yet one cry would bring her sailors, and she knew she was safe. So she did not cry for help. Instead, she whistled for Satan, at the same time calling him by name. She knew he was shut up in the living room, but the blacks did not wait to see. They fled with wild yells through the darkness, followed reluctantly by Gogoomy, while she entered the bungalow, laughing at first, but finally vexed to the verge of tears by what had taken place. She had sat up a whole night with the boy who had died, and yet his brother demanded to be paid for his life.

"Ugh! The ungrateful beast!" she muttered, while she debated whether or not she would confess the incident to Sheldon.

"And so it was all settled easily enough," Sheldon was saying. He was on the veranda, drinking coffee. The whaleboat was being carried into the shed. "Boucher was a bit timid at first to carry off the situation with a strong hand, but he did very well once we got started. We made a play at holding a court, and Telepassé, the old scoundrel, accepted the findings. He's a Port Adams chief, a filthy beggar. We fined him ten times the value of the pigs and made him move on with his mob. Oh, they're a sweet lot. I must say, at least sixty of them, in five big canoes, and out for trouble. They've got a dozen Sniders that ought to be confiscated."

"Why didn't you?" Joan asked.

"And have a row on my hands with the commissioner? He's terribly touchy about his black wards, as he calls them. Well, we started them along their way, though they went in on the beach to kill several miles back. They ought to pass here some time today."

Two hours later the canoes arrived. No one saw them come. The house boys were busy in the kitchen at their own breakfast. The plantation hands were similarly occupied in their quarters. Satan lay sound asleep on his back under the billiard table, in his sleep brushing at the flies that pestered him. Joan was rummaging in the storeroom, and Sheldon was taking his siesta in a hammock on the veranda. He awoke gently. In some occult, subtle way a warning that all was not well had penetrated his sleep and roused him. Without moving he glanced down and saw the ground beneath covered with armed savages. They were the same ones he had parted with that morning, though he noted an accession in numbers. There were men he had not seen before.

He slipped from the hammock and with deliberate slowness sauntered to the railing, where he yawned sleepily and looked down on them. It came to him curiously that it was the destiny even to stand on this high place looking down on unending hordes of black trouble that required control, bullying and cajolery. But while he glanced carelessly over them he was keenly taking stock. The new men were all armed with modern rifles. Ah, he had thought so. There were fifteen of them, undoubtedly the Lunga runaways. In addition a dozen old Sniders were in the hands of the original crowd. These were the very same men who had killed his trader, Oscar, at Ugi.

"What name you walk about this place?" he demanded.

At the same time he stole a glance seaward to where the Filiberty Gibbet reflected herself in the glassy calm of the sea. Not a soul was visible under her awnings, and he saw the whaleboat was missing from alongside. The Tahitians had evidently gone shooting fish up the Balesuna. He was all alone in his high place above this trouble, while his world slumbered peacefully under the breathless tropic noon.

Nobody replied, and he repeated his demand, more of mastery in his voice this time and a hint of growing anger.

The blacks moved uneasily, like a herd of cattle, at the sound of his voice. But not one spoke. Directly beneath him he caught sight of the muzzle of a rifle, barely projecting between two black bodies, that was slowly elevating toward him. It was held at the hip by a man in the second row.

"What name you?" Sheldon suddenly shouted, pointing directly at the man who held the gun.

Sheldon still held the whip hand, and he intended to keep it.

"Clear out, all you fella boys!" he ordered. "Clear out and walk along salt water. Savvee?"

"Me talk," spoke up a fat and stumpy savage, whose hairy chest was caked with the unwashed dirt of years.

"Oh, is that you, Telepassé?" the white man queried genially. "You tell 'm boys clear out, and you stop and talk along me."

"Him good fella boy," was the reply. "Him stop along."

of a rifle, barely projecting between two black bodies, that was slowly elevating toward him. It was held at the hip by a man in the second row.

"What name you?" Sheldon suddenly shouted, pointing directly at the man who held the gun.

Sheldon still held the whip hand, and he intended to keep it.

"Clear out, all you fella boys!" he ordered. "Clear out and walk along salt water. Savvee?"

"Me talk," spoke up a fat and stumpy savage, whose hairy chest was caked with the unwashed dirt of years.

"Oh, is that you, Telepassé?" the white man queried genially. "You tell 'm boys clear out, and you stop and talk along me."

"Him good fella boy," was the reply. "Him stop along."

"Well, what do you want?" Sheldon asked, striving to hide under assumed carelessness the weakness of confusion.

"That fella boy belong along me," the old chief pointed out Gogoomy, whom Sheldon recognized.

"White Mary belong you too much no good," Telepassé went on. "Bug 'm head belong Gogoomy. Gogoomy, all the same chief. Bime by me finish, Gogoomy big fella chief. White Mary bang 'm head. No good. You pay me plenty tobacco, plenty powder, plenty calico."

"You old scoundrel," was Sheldon's comment. An hour before he had been chuckling over Joan's recital of the episode, and here, an hour later, was Telepassé himself come to collect damages.

"Gogoomy," Sheldon ordered, "what name you walk about here? You get along quarters plenty quick."

"Me stop," was the defiant answer.

"White Mary belong you bang 'm head," old Telepassé began again. "My word, plenty big fella trouble you no pay."

"You talk along boys," Sheldon said, with increasing irritation. "You tell 'm get to h—along beach. Then I talk with you."

Sheldon felt a slight vibration of the veranda and knew that Joan had come out and was standing by his side. But he did not dare glance at her. There were too many rifles down below there, and rifles had a way of going off from the hip.

Again the veranda vibrated with her moving weight, and he knew that Joan had gone into the house. A minute later she was back beside him. He had never seen her smoke, and it struck him as peculiar that she should be smoking now. Then he guessed the reason. With a quick glance he noted the hand at her side and in it the familiar paper wrapped dynamite. He noted also the end of fuse, split properly, into which had been inserted the head of a wax match.

"Telepassé, you old reprobate, tell 'm boys clear out along beach. My word, I no gammon along you."

"Me no gammon," said the chief.

"Me want 'm pay white Mary bang 'm head belong Gogoomy."

"I'll come down there and bang 'm head belong you," Sheldon replied, leaning toward the railing as if about to leap over.

An angry murmur arose, and the blacks surged restlessly. The muzzles of many guns were rising from the hips. Joan was pressing the lighted end of the cigarette to the fuse. A Snider went off with the roar of a bomb gun, and Sheldon heard a pane of window glass crash beside him. At the same moment Joan flung the dynamite, the fuse hissing and spluttering into the thick of the blacks. They scattered back in too great haste to do any more shooting. Satan, aroused by the one shot, was snarling and panting to be let out. Joan leapt and ran to let him out, and a great tragedy was averted and the comedy began.

Rifle and spears were dropped or swung aside in a wild scramble for the protection of the cocoanut palms. Satan multiplied himself. Never had he been free to tear and rend such a quantity of black flesh before, and he bit and snapped and rushed the flying legs of the last pair were above his head.

"I fancy you need a lesson or two in inserting fuses," Sheldon remarked dryly.

Joan's eyes were scornful.

"There was no detonator on it," she said. "Besides, the detonator is yet unmanufactured that will explode that charge. It's only a bottle of chloro-dyne."

Our National Capitol.

"One thing I learned during a recent visit to Europe was that the average life of a stone building is not more than 700 years," said a builder. "Naturally I was interested in construction work and gave more attention to this part of Europe than I did to the examination of art galleries and the tombs of famous men. The buildings of Europe are no better in their construction than those of this country. I don't think I saw a building in Europe that is better built than the capitol in Washington. In nearly all of the older cities of England I noticed that the town halls, which had been constructed in many cases 500 years ago, were beginning to collapse. All of them had been patched up, and it was evident that they would not last a great many years longer. I do not think there is any doubt that the capitol building in Washington will be standing 500 years from now if it is not destroyed, but it will not last longer, nor will the treasury building, which is the finest example of its style of architecture in the United States."—Washington Post.

Historic Spot at Ems.

On the riverside promenade at Ems there is a stone inscribed: "13 July, 1870, 9 Uhr 10 Min. Morgens." This marks the exact spot where Wilhelm I. and Count Benedetti terminated the interview which led the French to declare war. After the Franco-Prussian war the old emperor often returned to Ems. On one occasion his doctor mentioned that the municipality wished to commemorate the interview with Benedetti, which they considered the most memorable event in the annals of the town. He was instructed to meet the emperor on the promenade by the Lahn at 6 a. m. the following day. Wilhelm then said: "During my lifetime let nothing be erected to recall that sorrowful struggle. When I am dead do as you please. Since you wish to know where I dismissed Benedetti it was here under this tree at 9:10 in the morning." And, saying this, he placed his foot on the spot where the monument now stands.

NEW SEED CATALOG AND PLANTERS' GUIDE
The Nineteenth Annual Catalog of the AGGELER & MUSSER SEED CO. is again before the public. It is larger and a decided improvement over any previous number which indicates the growth of a wide-awake, up-to-date seed house. It tells you WHAT to plant and WHEN to plant it, under every condition of climate and soil. WHAT and WHEN to grow for the local market, or for export.
The list of roses and ornamental plants cannot be excelled. It is free for the asking. Write for it at once. Address:

The Bank of Glendale

THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Absolutely controls every State Bank within its limits.
An expert accountant examines every item twice each year.
At least three times each year a sworn statement must be made and the same published.
The active officers are not under any circumstances allowed to borrow from the bank of which they are officers; and a director must have the approval of the Superintendent of Banks if they borrow. Added to all this each stockholder is responsible for his stock, and as much more, but is also responsible for his portion of all liabilities.
Isn't that strong enough?

This is the name of a company incorporated Tuesday last by the following persons, who will constitute the board of directors: F. H. Vesper, F. L. Muehlman, Hartley Shaw, D. G. Givens, John W. Ullston, Philip Engstrom, E. W. Haviland, W. B. Kirk, J. C. Sherer. The primary object is to publish a newspaper that shall satisfy all reasonable demands even in an ambitious and rapidly growing city. Further details will be given to the public in due time.

LECTURE COURSE.

Dr. Chas. E. Locke of Los Angeles who was to give the third number on the lecture course, has had a complete nervous breakdown and has had to cancel all engagements, therefore Prof. Tully C. Knoles will speak on Jan. 16, and another speaker will be secured for the later date.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church will give a meat pie supper next week Friday, January 19 in the primary building beginning at 5:30 p. m. Menu: Meat pie, mashed potatoes, cold slaw, olives, pie and cake, coffee. Price 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children under 12 years.

The Casa Verdugo Improvement Association have called a meeting for next Thursday evening at the M. E. church on Park avenue, to discuss the annexation question. All residents in the proposed district are invited to attend this meeting.

Prof. Tully C. Knoles of U. S. C. will speak on the subject, "The Evolution of American Living," at Filger hall, January 16, at 8 o'clock. Admission 25 cents.

GLENDALE YOUNG PEOPLE MARIED.

Miss Julia E. Pebbles of 200 North Louise street, and Stephen Clay Maranville of 304 1/2 Brand boulevard, were married Tuesday evening. The affair being unexpected, was an entire surprise to the friends of the young couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Hogue, 903 Dryden street, entertained Tuesday evening at cards. The decorations of pink and white were very handsome. The guests from Los Angeles were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Job, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. L. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. LaChat, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sibbald, Dr. and Mrs. M. D. W. Jeffs, Dr. R. W. Graham. Those from Eagle Rock were Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Pierce of Ninth street were among the guests who were entertained by Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Wynnes of Roosevelt street, Los Angeles, at the meetings of the Sans Souci Club in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Menzo Williams of North Central avenue entertained as dinner guests on Sunday, Mrs. Eva Barnes, Mrs. Jane Clemons and Miss Eleanor and Kathryn Clemons of South Pasadena.

Miss Ann Grant who has been visiting in Wasco has returned to visit her Glendale friends. Miss Grant was a house guest at the home of Miss Una Russell of 323 East Third street on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Rev. R. O. Macintosh has been seriously ill for the past ten days, but is slowly recovering. He was to have gone to the Imperial valley to assume charge of that field for the Episcopal church on January 1st and will probably leave for there as soon as he is able to travel.

Rev. J. D. Easter, remembered by old-timers in Glendale as having been principal of "St. Helens Hall," (now the Sanitarium) seminary, died at Redlands a few days ago, being buried there Wednesday. Dr. Easter was a man of unusual ability and culture, a Harvard graduate, in addition to having taken a course at Heidelberg. Bishop Johnson officiated at the funeral.

The Sixth Street School Parents' Teacher Association will hold their regular monthly meeting Friday afternoon, January 12, in the Sixth Street School building, at 3 o'clock. Dr. C. C. Roble of Los Angeles will give an address on the "Care of Children's Teeth," which will contain valuable information for all mothers. Special music will be given by Mrs. H. M. Tracey of Hollywood.

The Daughters of the American Revolution will hold a reciprocity meeting on Tuesday, the 16th, in the Washington Heights Hotel. All the chapters of the State of California are invited to attend. Luncheon will be followed by addresses given by prominent members of the organization. Members of the Hollywood chapter will preside as hostesses of the occasion.

A portion of the tall cypress hedge on Verdugo road between Fourth and Fifth street has been cut down during the past week, disclosing to passersby the fine orange orchard of Mr. J. P. Lakens; the trees laden with a splendid crop of the golden fruit. This orchard was planted by the present owner who raised the trees from seeds secured from the old Crow orchard on Glendale avenue, covering the section now known as Lomita Park. This orchard has always been exempt from serious frost effects, and the cold spell of a fortnight ago seems not to have injured it.

Mr. C. P. Huey, senior member of the law firm of Huey & Grossman, Citizens National Bank building, Los Angeles, is a recent arrival in our community. Mr. Huey and his wife, with Miss Agnes Webster, sister of Mrs. Huey, have just purchased a cozy home at 923 Fairview avenue, north of town. Mr. Huey was one of the active organizers of the Upland Chamber of Commerce and on its executive board, but having taken up his home in Glendale, will be active in all interests. All are educated and cultured people and will make most desirable acquisitions to Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Hogue, 903 Dryden street, entertained Tuesday evening at cards. The decorations of pink and white were very handsome. The guests from Los Angeles were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Job, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. L. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. LaChat, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sibbald, Dr. and Mrs. M. D. W. Jeffs, Dr. R. W. Graham. Those from Eagle Rock were Mr. and Mrs. H. S. TROPICO

Allen Davenport returned to school Monday at U. S. C. after an illness of several weeks.

Mrs. George Roper and son of Rhyolite, Nev., are passing some time with Mrs. Roper's sister, Mrs. A. O. Conrad on Glendale avenue.

Burt W. Richardson is just completing a beautiful seven-room Swiss chalet residence on Eulalia street, which is costing about $4000 to erect. This place is for sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Cover C. Melrose, who have been passing some time at this place, have returned to Boyle Heights in the Colorado river, Arizona, where Mr. Melrose is employed in the mines.

John H. Seaman is being employed by the city of Tropic to secure plans and specifications for an estimate of the cost of an electric lighting system for the city, to include an extension of the Brand system of 123 services.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Tropic Methodist church met yesterday at the home of Mrs. J. F. Harris, 106 Glendale avenue. Considerable business was transacted.

Material for the construction of the piano factory to be erected on the west side of the Pacific Electric tracks is arriving daily and work on the structure will doubtless start within a short time.

At the Tropic Methodist church next Sunday the following will be the subjects of the sermons delivered by Rev. S. W. Carnes, pastor: Morning, "The Personality of the Holy Spirit"; evening, "Spiritual Vision."

George W. Seward is preparing a proposition consisting of plans and specifications, rates, etc., for an electric lighting plant for this city, which he will present to the city at an early date.

After much coaxing on the part of the residents of Glendale avenue the city trustees have finally passed a resolution ordering the improvement work on that thoroughfare. For week it is stated, work on this street has been held up by the council, for unknown reasons.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Retts, who for the past several weeks have been residing in Fullerton, have taken possession of a small cottage on Palmer avenue just west of Brand boulevard. It is their intention to remain here permanently.

The Baraca class of the Presbyterian Sunday school of this place has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Harry Marple; vice president, Samuel Rich; secretary, Hal McNutt; treasurer and business manager, Hurlbert Harrison.

The improvement work on Tropic avenue between Central avenue and Brand boulevard, has been completed. The attention of the improvement gang is turned to the installing of sidewalks and curbing on Tropic avenue between Central avenue and San Fernando road. It is expected that this stretch of work will be finished this week.

The rate of taxation in Tropic is one dollar on the $100 valuation, 40 cents of which is collected by this city, the 60 per cent being collected by the county as road tax. The assessed valuation of the city property is $694,125, and the entire tax levy is $694.125. F. L. Fishback is city tax collector and his assistant is City Clerk Street.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Epworth League of the Tropic Methodist church was held in the church parlors Tuesday evening. On account of the resignation of the elected second vice president, Miss Julia Goodsell was elected to fill the place. Miss Nina Clavier was elected to fill the office of fourth vice president. A short program was rendered and during the evening refreshments consisting of cakes and punch were served.

In its desire to secure a reasonable water rate for the city of Tropic the Tropic board of trustees has passed a resolution demanding, among other things, a verified statement showing the amount of money actually expended annually since commencing business, construction and maintenance, respectively, of the property necessary to the carrying on of business, and also the gross cash receipts annually, for the same period from all sources.

Invitations have been received by friends at this place this week for the marriage of Miss Lillian Pearl Dixon, daughter of Mrs. Adeline Dixon, to Mr. Manuel Frederick Brazil of Los Angeles. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents at 508 South Clarence street, Los Angeles, last Wednesday evening, at 8:30 o'clock. Miss Dixon is quite well known in this valley, having lived here several years previously to moving to Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Brazil will be at home to their many friends after February 1st at 506 South Clarence street, Los Angeles.

WEST GLENDALE

Mrs. R. W. Hammond of 1509 Ivy street recently enjoyed a visit of relatives from Willowbrook.

Mrs. S. E. Munn and daughter and son-in-law from San Jacinto have moved into the house, 1615 W. Sixth street.

Mr. G. D. Cash and family have moved to 1205 Lomita avenue from Tenth street, occupying their new house there.

John T. Moore has moved to Los Angeles from 189 Pacific avenue to engage in business at Boyle Heights in that city.

Mrs. Daniel Kelly, Sr., who has been seriously ill for some time, has fully recovered and is able to enjoy her daily drives.

Prof. R. E. Scoles, a noted voice teacher of Los Angeles, has been secured to give instructions to the choir of the Christian church Thursday evenings.

Mr. and Mrs. Moon of 1504 Ivy street, recently from Seattle, have been enjoying the beauties of various parts of Southern California for the past two weeks.

Messrs. Kilborn and Brown have been moved bodily in their old store across the street from their old location and work begun on the new structure which is to stand on the site of the old.

The many friends of Mr. Warren Story will be pleased to know that he is now entirely out of danger and doing fine, but on account of his weakness is not able to receive callers yet.

Mr. W. D. Lathrop who bought the property on Hawthorne street, formerly owned by Mr. J. W. Everett, is making many improvements on the place. Mrs. Lathrop has been confined to her house the past week, with a severe attack of the asthma.

Mr. John Anderson of Salt Lake City, a railroad man located many years at Soldiers Summit on the D. and R. G., visited Glendale Monday last. Mr. Anderson is a friend of twenty-five years' standing of Mr. Kilborn of Kilborn & Brown, and is looking for a home site in Southern California.

The item inserted in this section last week calling down the Glendale laundry for blowing its whistle on New Year's Eve was strikingly funny, but altogether misplaced. We were all in bed asleep and there was no steam in the boiler. In other words, the whistle did not blow. "Look before you leap."

Mrs. J. J. Schremp of 1442 West Fourth street and her sister, Mrs. Williams, are still confined to the hospital at Burbank where they are doing as well as could be expected considering the terrible injuries suffered by each one. Mrs. Jones is still confined to bed at the home of Mrs. Schremp, suffering mainly from a badly sprained back and nervous shock.

Several new homes are seen in the course of construction in the immediate vicinity. One at the corner of Remington and Fourth street which is going to be a very artistic looking building, is hinted at as going to be the home of a popular young lady from West Glendale, some day before long. Several buildings are also being constructed near the West Glendale school all of a very good type.

THE MATTER OF TELEPHONE POLES ON COLUMBUS STREET.

As agreed at the trustees' meeting Monday evening the committee on public works met interested citizens from the Valley View tract (west of Central avenue) Tuesday morning, and the manager of the Home Telephone Company, Mr. Arthur Campbell. Trustees Watson and Lane represented the committee, Mr. Coker the third member being absent. The party went over the ground thoroughly and a tentative agreement was reached which promises to be satisfactory to all parties concerned. This consists of an arrangement by which the city will put up poles on the alley west of and parallel with Central avenue, this line of poles to carry all utility wires for that section, thus keeping poles off the streets. This requires some extra expense in the way of underground work and the putting in of some sort of extra poles for lights, which it is expected will be borne in part at least by interested property owners. Mr. Campbell expressed himself as satisfied with the proposition provided that the poles be placed promptly so as not to delay their work. Mr. Lynch was to take the matter up with the Sunset Company and if the arrangement proves satisfactory to all interested parties, it is probable that the trustees at their next meeting Monday evening will direct the poles to be put in at once, the financial conditions being such that this is entirely practicable.

Williams' Dry Goods Store

"THE BIGGEST LITTLE STORE IN GLENDALE"

Cor. Fourth Street and Glendale Avenue

Christmas Up to Date

means an exhilarating auto ride before dinner. Don't run the risk of having to have your car hauled back home. Better let us overhaul your car to make sure it will be in good shape for a ride out of town or a trip to your friend's country Christmas party.

WE'RE READY TO FACE THE MUSIC

whenever anything proves wrong with our groceries. We never intentionally misrepresent anything we sell, but mistakes will happen even in the best regulated families.

TELL US ALL ABOUT IT

if your purchase of groceries does not prove entirely satisfactory. Give us the chance to make the wrong right and we will consider it a favor.

PUTTING LUMBER

INTO A HOUSE

is either an investment or a speculation. If you put first class, well seasoned lumber, such as we sell, into it you will have a house worth while and your money will be wisely invested. If you put in the other kind—well you never know what that house is going to cost or to keep on costing.
